—There was a little ruction yesterday morning in Dempsey's saloon between two Washoeites over a game of cards, where the stakes were five dollars a corner. One side made a misdeal and turned a jack, and the other raised the point of order that jacks didn't count in a misdeal. The lie passed and the other party smote the dealer in the neck. No special damage was done all round. Both these men are strong against the lottery on moral grounds.

Convinced.

Dr. Guion accepted Dr. Lee's invitation yesterday to go into the Ormsby House and inspect the small pox cases there.

Dr. Guion, donning an old suit of cloths, went in and got to the door where the patients were. He took one look and sniffed one good sniff of the atmosphere and remarking, "I'm satisfied," started down stairs, where he spent half an hour disinfecting.

He informed an APPEAL representative that it was Simon pure small pox and the worst cases he ever saw.

He also visited the negro patient and made the same report. Any other doctor who wants to take a look at these cases can do so at any time.

CABINET SPECULATIONS.

Representative Morrow Goes to Indianapolis to Visit Harrison.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Representative Morrow left this city last evening for Indianapolis. He carried with him a letter, signed by all the Republicans in the Pacific Coast delegation and addressed to General Harrison.

All the Republicans in the delegation from the Pacific Coast met in Senator Stanford's committee-rooms yesterday, and after discussing the matter for an hour or more, decided to write a letter to General Harrison simply urging the importance of his placing someone from the Pacific Coast in his Cabinet. The letter did not read that he should take some one from California, Nevada or Oregon, but simply from the Pacific Coast. It was further distinctly understood that the letter was to be entirely neutral as to candidates, and that the messenger who bore it to Indianapolis should pledge himself, before starting, that he, too, would be entirely neutral as to the candidate. The selection of any prominent man from the coast would be satisfactory to the party.

CHANCES FOR THE COAST.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—John B. Henderson of Missouri is in the city. He visited the President-elect at Indianapolis last week, and says that his impression from a remark made by Harrison, is that M. M. Estee will be appointed Attorney General. General Harrison will have an opportunity to learn from Representative Morrow, who has gone to Indianapolis as the representative of the Pacific Coast delegation in Congress, the views of that body on the subject of the Cabinet. Mr. Morrow is not directed to present the name of any individual for the appointment, but to lay the claims of the Coast before the President-elect and to answer any question that may be asked.

A VERMONT TO THE FRONT.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 19.—Ex-Governor Redfield Proctor of Vermont had an interview with General Harrison yesterday. He heaped the Vermont delegation at the Chicago Convention, casting a solid vote for Harrison. In case Miller of New York persists in refusing the Agricultural Department, the impression prevails it will be given to Proctor.
